HOSPITALITY

There are more ways than one to advertise a city. Some cities make use of films and others of page advertisements in periodicals and while those are effective as far as they reach there is a third means which advertisers in a city throughout the world. And that is hospitality to visitors.

San Francisco has become known throughout the entire world as the most hospitable city to a stranger visiting the Pacific Coast, creating a desire to return again and again and likewise interests his countrymen.

Yesterday San Francisco entertained foreign guests—the crew of a German war ship. San Francisco during the past few years has entertained officials from Belgium, France, Italy, Spain, Sweden and the South American nations. But this is the first time since before the war that a German ship entered the Golden Gate. But San Francisco forgot that a few years ago we had enemies and welcomed her guests with that true spirit of hospitality for which she has become world-famous.

Richmond could learn a lesson from her sister across the bay. True we have not the attractions to lure prominent personages to the coast solely for the purpose of visiting us. We are young, but we are growing. We can however invite those guests visiting San Francisco to spend a few hours in our city and see what we have accomplished within the quarter of a century that we have existed. And we can make their visit so enjoyable here that, like San Francisco, they will be glad to return again to us.

We have advantages which San Francisco lacks—a superior climate and an outlet to the world beyond. We have land in abundance suitable for enterprises which foreign industries are anxious to establish on the West Coast. Why not let the foreign countries know of our assets?

What better means could we employ to tell the foreign world of benefits they could derive by locating in Richmond than by inviting them to visit our shores and by welcoming them here when they arrive?

The war has ended. If it has not ended satisfactorily we are as much to blame as the other nations. Victiveness now is only a loss to us at the profit of those who are far-seeing enough to realize that enemies do not last and especially among the European nations who are friends today are enemies tomorrow—regardless of ententes, alliances and treaties.

Business is business and can not allow itself to become sentimental.

A city to grow and progress must invite to her doors those who live in the world beyond and must extend a welcoming hand to those who arrive at her shores. Isolation breeds stagnation.

Street Would Be All Broken up
In a Years Time Says Street
Contractor

Declaring that the proposed paving of Garrard boulevard would be inadequate and that the street would be in a deplorable condition within a year, George Curtis, contractor of the work, which is being constructed by the Santa Fe railroad and the Key System Transit company, appeared before the city council and asked their help in securing the removal of a pipe lying below the sub-surface of the roadway.

He declared that a corrugated pipe of the East Bay Water company was laid about eight inches below the surface and that the pipe leaked at the seams. When the paving is laid and a heavy steam roller starts on the work, he told the council that the pipe would in all probability be crushed in places and that the entire work would become undermined.

City Engineer E. A. Hoffman told the council that he had taken the matter up with the water company officials and had suggested that they move the pipe line to the parking adjoining. Officials of the company, he stated, refused to make the changes on the ground that the work had been installed only two years and that the expense at this time would not warrant the change. The company declared that steam rollers would not injure the pipe and that the company would be responsible for any damages caused to the roadway.

The leaks were declared to be due to electrolysis. The holes made in the pipe are being repaired.

Councilman E. J. Garrard told the council that he objected to good streets being laid and later torn up and patched again and again in an unsatisfactory manner by the water company and asked if something could be done to (Continued on Page Five)

Extensive harbor improvements promise further development. Large manufacturing interests include the Standard Oil Company, crude petroleum being carried by pipe lines all the way from the great oil fields of the San Joaquin Valley to its immense refining works here. The Pullman car shops are seen south of the city to the east of the tracks. A new automobile and passenger ferry service has recently been established between Richmond and San Francisco by Southern Pacific Lines."

The Secretary's action was taken with the approval of the bureau of the budget. "Being an officer on the retired list, Byrd has lost the chance for promotion which would have come to him as an officer on active duty.

The Polar flyer today in a cable message expresses his appreciation of the messages of congratulation sent him by Secretary Wilbur and Rear Admiral Moffett, chief of the bureau of aeronautics.

The messages, dispatched immediately after news of Byrd's feat reached the United States, were lost en route, and finally over-took the flier in London.

PATENT PAVING
MAY BE RULED OUT BY COUNCIL

To Hold Conference With Head
Of The National Paving Co.
On Work Here

Declaring that unless a sufficient guarantee for the inspector of paving can be secured from the National Paving company that patent system of paving is not to be used in the paving of streets in the proposed improvements in the East Richmond, North Richmond and Stege districts, the city council last night refused to endorse the work.

City Engineer E. A. Hoffman declared that Walter Heinecke head of the company would be in Richmond with a next week or so and advised the council to wait until his arrival and at that time to hold a conference with him for the purpose of seeing whether his company would guarantee a satisfactory inspection.

The council objected to paying for patented pavements without guarantee and declared that they would not tolerate a repetition of the work finished last year, over which there has been continued objections and much comment, according to council members.

It was stated that unless the company put up a bond guaranteeing the work, that some other type of pavement will be used on the proposed improvements.

Temporary Road to Inner Harbor Wharf
To Be Constructed

City Manager James A. McVittie was last night authorized by the city council to proceed with the work of removing the dredged material in the construction of Municipal Wharf No. 2. After a discussion of the most economical and practical means of handling the work because of its peculiar nature it was decided to have the job done by day labor.

The construction of a temporary road to the wharf was also left to the city manager by the council who stated that it was necessary to start immediately to have the roadway in suitable condition before the wet weather sets in. The city manager estimated the cost at $4,000.

Harbormaster J. H. Misner asked the time would determine whether or not a shipment of lumber for inland cities could be received at the wharf. The city manager stated that the road would be completed within six weeks or in time to receive the shipment.

Request for Street
Light is Denied

The city council last night denied the request of residents in the vicinity of Forty-fifth street and Potrero avenue for a street light at the intersection.

Councilman Frank A. Scholtes stated that he had visited the district and found that there was a light installed 200 feet from the corner and another on Forty-fifth street, near the church and that if another were installed it would mean two light within 200 feet.

Councilman George Black declared that the intention of the light was probably for persons boarding street cars and that if sufficient need could be shown by the residents in the district, he would be in favor of the installation, but as conditions are, he declared that it would only be an extra expense to the city.

SOFT DRINK PERMITS

FUND DRIVE FOR SCOUTS STARTS

A campaign in an effort to raise $2500, was started yesterday by the organizations in Richmond for the County Council of the Boy Scouts of America. $7500 is the amount to be raised by the county and of this sum Richmond was assigned a quota of $2500 and the general committee in charge is confident that this sum will be realized before Monday.

This money goes to the county board of the organization to pay for the Scout executives, office expense, camp expense and other matters not in the routine of the organization.

The general committee in Richmond is working hard to make the drive a success and up to a late hour last night no reports for the first day of the drive was made.

Men from different organizations are on the general committee and each man has a sub-committee in his organization, which is assisting him in the raising of the funds.

The committee, which includes E. M. Downer, chairman; A. C. Faris, of the Lions; H. R. Carter, Rotary; W. L. Seawright, Kiwanis; E. J. Garrard, Elks; M. Slosilo, Knight of Pythias, and J. N. Jarvis, Redmen, will meet tomorrow afternoon at the Elk's club for discussion of the drive.

A permit was issued to A. Crisler to build a one-car private garage on the east side of Fourth street, near Ripley street.

COUNCIL HAS
GRANT PERMIT

Company Asking for Right
Told to Make Application
Under City Ordinance

The certainty of a local bus service for Richmond is practically assured as a result of the decision made by the city attorney, T. M. Carlson, before the members of the city council last night. The Community Bus company, which plans to operate busses from Twenty-third street and Macdonald street and Macdonald avenue to the Standard Oil refinery by way of the Municipal natatorium, will make formal application to the city within a few days, asking them to set a date for the hearing for his request, according to C. G. Barbikas, secretary of the organization.

City Attorney Carlson stated that the city has the power to grant a franchise to bus companies intending to operate within the city limits and that the State Railroad commission is without jurisdiction in the case.

The city attorney also stated that there was an ordinance amend by City Ordinance No. 562, which prescribes the manner in which application for such enterprises are to be made to the city council, after which the council must set a date for the hearing of the petition. The ordinance also prescribes that a bond be posted guaranteeing the work.

The report of the city attorney was accepted by the council, which instructed that the Community Bus company be notified of the ordinance and requested to file its application in regular form.

The proposed bus service is headed by a group of Richmond business men desirous of furnishing adequate service for the residents at Point Richmond and those in the East Richmond districts. They declare that business will be increased by the service and that the Municipal natatorium last which they plan to operate busses, will also be benefited by the proposed service.

The proposed service is also expected to furnish adequate transportation back and forth to the Standard Oil refinery.

Considerable agitation for the proposed service has been in progress throughout the city, for some time, but it was not until the past few weeks that definite action was taken. At a last meeting of the council a petition was made and the council delayed action until it could receive the assurance of the city attorney that the council had the authority to proceed.

The State Railroad commission has authority to grant license only when proposed services plan to operate between cities or outside city limits.

C. G. Barbikas, when notified last night of the action taken by the city council, stated that the Community Bus company would make formal application according to the terms of the ordinance as soon as possible and would endeavor to secure an early hearing on the proposition. Should permission be granted to them to operate a bus service, he stated that the company would start operation as soon as they were able to secure necessary busses.

FOOD AND WEATHER

Almost any person of normal mind is quick to appreciate the value of dressing for comfort as the temperature rises, but not every one is wise enough to change his habits of eating to conform to the principles of health established by medical science after much study and investigation.

In the summer months it is the part of good sense to ignore even the injunction of the federal agricultural department to "eat more meat" in order to help the stock raisers, and it will be found that persons who are moderate in the use of meat, practically eliminating it from the ration in summer, will find it easier to maintain a condition of health.

Any other articles of food which are found to overwork the vital organs or bring distress in any way should be readily discovered by the adult, even without the advice of a physician, and such foods may be abandoned to the advantage of better health. Foods which are promptly assimilated in the winter months become harmful in the summer.

Nobody likes to have the charge applied to himself, of course, but it will probably be found that excesses in eating are at the foundation of more physical ills than almost any other cause. The dangers from over-eating are multiplied in the days between June 20 and September 20.

The butcher and the grocer may find their business somewhat reduced by an extensive practice of moderation in eating, but after all the conservation of life and health is about the most important business in which any one may engage.

THE SPORT OF KINGS

First of a mighty caravan is driving out of the home garage these fine May days, and the 1926 season of automobile touring—the sport of kings—is under way.

In all ages the privileged classes have had their hobbies. Horse racing, polo and power boats are among the chief diversions of the moneyed people today.

But when all is said and done, the great American sport is turning. From the "tin can tourist," camping along the road, to the limousine parties that pull up before expensive hostilities at eventide, there is fun for everybody and every purse.

No wonder the motor tour is popular. The sweet music made by the resounding slam of the automobile door, the joy of the high road, the delight of stopping wherever and whenever one pleases without regard for vexing timetables—all these and more are part of the lure of this rapidly growing American summer pastime.

This transformation in summer travel has altered entirely the hotel business. The "one night stand" is now the source of income and profit in place of the old-fashioned stay of a week or more. Municipal camping sites and the ubiquitous farmhouse accommodations for tourists are another new development.

Every man is a king in this country, or as good as one, and touring is his sport. May its popularity increase, for it harms none and benefits all.

A SUMMERTIME DANGER

With the approach of the summer camping and vacation season, it is timely that health officials are issuing warnings regarding the danger which may be met in the use of water for drinking and cooking purposes, which is found in springs or streams in camps or other places.

Frequent tests of drinking water in cities and towns where water systems are maintained have prac-

SLAVERY

Should slavery be permitted to establish itself beyond the Mississippi, in the northern part of the territory? This was the question which came up the year in which we purchased Florida.

Congress had shut out slavery from the territory north of the Ohio and east of the Mississippi forming now the five states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin, with Eastern Minnesota. Now the discussion began whether it should in like manner shut it out from the country beyond the Mississippi north of a line drawn west from near the point where the Ohio joins the Mississippi.

A great change had come over the country. Before and during the Revolution every colony held negroes in bondage. In the North the slaves were chiefly house servants, never in very large numbers. In the South, however, the number of negroes was constantly increasing, the planters raising all their crops by slave labor. Though at first few persons considered slavery an evil, after a time many able men in both sections of the country believed it a bad thing for both the negroes and the whites.

This feeling gradually led to the passing of laws in the North giving the slaves their freedom, though many northern men who had made money by manufacturing and dealing in cotton cloth became interested in maintaining slavery.

But in the South the planters did not see how they could free their negroes without ruining themselves. The invention of the cotton-gin had made slave labor immensely profitable, and naturally the planters wished to keep up the system.

DOLLS FEATURED IN FASCINATING NOVELTIES FOR MANY USES

Fashion Puts More in (and Under) Their Heads than Saucy Eyes and Pouting Lips

By MONA MULLEN

NOW, one might not really believe that a doll could be a party to so many clever little tricks, but Fashion proves that it can, and fascinatingly illustrates her contention in the group of models shown here. The transfer furnishes six heads suitable for candy boxes, or baskets for fancy-work, or trinkets.

All of the heads are easy to make, and one gets quite a lot of amusement out of the task of making them. Because each head is different, there will come to mind, very readily, interesting ways to develop the various models. For instance, the dollie with the pigtail may have a red face, with snappy black eyes, a cherry-red mouth, and red hair.

If one has a sneaking preference for blondes, any of the heads may be worked up in yellow, with the eyes blue and the lips a dainty red. Two of the dollies have bows of ribbon tied under the chin, and one has her bow at the side. Little Mischief, with the pigtail, prefers an immense bow at the back of the head, and, as if that were not enough, she adds a rose to the bow—just determined to be seen.

The boxes may be lined with fine satin, silk, or satin, and the edges finished with the same material. Full directions are given with each transfer for its use, and they should be carefully read before attempting to go further with this work.

The dolls are the very latest thing in fancy-work, however, and everyone seems to be succumbing to the craze of making them.

tically eliminated any danger of typhoid fever from this source, but this can not be said of the water that is commonly found in camping places, especially if these places are used infrequently, and care has not been taken to examine the water supply.

Water found in summer camps may be clear as crystal, yet it may contain germs which may have serious effects upon the person drinking it. Springs which appear to have their origin in safe places may be infected with germs from a source that is not easily discovered.

It is wise not to take chances on contracting dangerous diseases when the exercise of judgment in keeping with medical knowledge may save lives, or at least avoid serious illness.

AT THE END OF THE TRAIL

BROKEN HEARTS of HOLLYWOOD

BY EDWARD CLARK

Copyrighted by Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

"BROKEN HEARTS OF HOLLYWOOD" with Louise Oresser is a Warner picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Traveling alone on the Los Angeles Limited is Betsy Ann Terrell, a girl of surpassing beauty. Hal Chutney, a handsome young man, boards the train in Iowa, Escamote, and mutually attracted, each learns that the other is on the same "vision-bound" for Hollywood, as prize winner of a newspaper contest, to get a movie try-out. Greatly thrilled, they arrive in Hollywood and take rooms in the same boarding house—a place frequented by movie actors. The land, says Betsy, Betsy's face strangely familiar.

CHAPTER III—Continued.

Through the open windows came that wonderful night fragrance which is the glory of Los Angeles and its environs. Southern California! That heavy aroma of flowers and shrubs, that vague suggestion of eucalyptus trees, which en-slaves for all time whoever has once known it.

Betsy was shy and demure before the scrutiny—indifferent though it was—of the boarders; but Hal, while bashful before Betsy, was very manly and straightforward, even aggressive, in his poise toward all other people. Young and tall, strong and good-looking, he was self-contained and serious in his mien.

"What are you going to do here?" summed up the questions fired from all around the tables.

"We both won Personality and Popularity contests," explained Hal proudly, "and we've got two-months contracts with the Amalgamated Studios."

"There ought to be a law stopping these fool contests, which bring amateurs here to take bread out of the mouths of professionals."

Betsy and Hal, their appetites gone, looked at one another over scarcely touched plates. Surely this had been a day of conflicting emotions. The lifting promise of their trip had not been borne out or recharged by the first drag glimpse behind the scenes. And somehow, as their eyes fell again to the food their palates repulsed, each thought of the little Valley back in Iowa. Of the dandelion candles snuffed out by the hill shadow.

"You will presently observe, Miss, that these actors, whose job it is to divert the public by presenting for entertainment the silver lining side of life, see only the seamy outer clouds themselves. You'll be safer if you ignore their calamitous accounts."

Betsy and Hal looked up in quick surprise at the sound of the strange voice, which was accompanied by the scraping of a chair as the newcomer slid tardily into place at the table. His smile and friendliness were for Betsy alone, though a casual flash of his dark eyes—which seemed magically for an instant to suspend their smiles, without word or deed—that he was at least conscious of Hal's presence.

But Hal accepted his subordination without notice and experienced in common with Betsy a thrill of resurgent hope and new interest in the encouraging tones and manner of the newcomer.

"Miss Terrell, meet Mr. Marshall. Mr. Marshall, say 'How do' to Mr. Chutney." Having thus mechanically observed the proprieties of boarding house social custom, the Landlady with the Tired Eyes subsided into her listless silence and perpetual listening at the head of the table. Studio legend had it that her eyes "got that way"—i.e., became perpetually tired—from the strain of looking too much upon the luminaries (by their own confession) who graced her clean but ungracious board.

"It's nice, Mr. Marshall, to have someone say something—cheerful!" sighed Betsy. "We were beginning to feel sorry that—we came."

Hal, who could not help noticing that Marshall had ignored the introduction to him, began to have his initial share of the universal reaction of a masculine second look at Marshall.

"Mary Pickford hasn't got a life lease on her position as the best known and most famous screen actress!" beamed Marshall encouragingly upon Betsy, who only awaited the hearing of such implications to swell inwardly once more with the bubbles of her passionately ambitious dreams.

"But Mary Pickford didn't get into the picture business through a publicity contest!" sarcastically reminded the grumpy actor at the foot of the table.

"Which signifies nothing!" retorted Marshall, bending a look of severe reproach upon the interrupter. When his eyes turned to Betsy's face again they were full of serious interest, of anxiety to be helpful.

"ETUDE HOUR" FOR MUSIC FANS

No music is highbrow if you know what to listen for. This is the happy philosophy which guides D. A. Clippinger, who is bringing the world's loveliest music to the lay listener in the "Etude Hour" concerts, which he gives on the third Tuesday of each month from the studio of WLS, Chicago.

Mr. Clippinger is almost a wizard in getting people to sing. He is director of the Chicago Madrigal club, and the Swift & Co. Male Chorus, two of Chicago's most famous choral organizations, and much of his success rests upon the "vocal setting up exercises" he gives to get every singer to sing with his whole being, as if he himself were the whole chorus. Clippinger has the same magic in getting people to listen. Briefly and interestingly he points out the paths through the most intricate composition so the listener knows what the composer is singing, and can understand every mood of the music.

"The Etude Hour" concerts are arranged by Clippinger through the Etude musical magazine.

CONWAY TEARLE IS FEATURED AT THE CALIFORNIA

Conway Tearle, one of the screen's most popular male stars, appears on the screen of the California Theatre today and tomorrow in Robert T. Kane's latest First National production, "The Dancer of Paris," from the pen of the internationally popular Michael Arlen. This is the first time that a Michael Arlen story has been screened.

Tearle's performance as Noel Anson, the American infatuated with The Dancer of Paris, is reported to be one of the finest that he has thus far contributed to the screen. He plays with a facility and grace that, combined with the other attributes, results in a most delightful character.

Sharing stellar honors with Tearle is Dorothy Mackaill who assumes the title role of the production. She is reported to give performances of unusual distinction. Robert Cain completes the cast.

Alfred A. Santell directed "The Dancer of Paris."

Other features on the same program include Hal Roach's comedy "Your Husband's Past," "Marvels in Motion," "International News," and Larry Canelo, at the organ.

At fourteen years of age George Washington gave up a midshipman's warrant and stayed at home at his mother's behest.

Cast in Road to Glory Composed Of Rare Talent

Good casts are the rule rather than the exception in motion pictures nowadays, but the list of players offered by Fox Film in its latest production, "The Road to Glory," is one of rare ability. The picture comes to the Richmond Theatre today for a run of two days.

May McAvoy, whose dramatic conceptions are among the finest in picture-dom, has the featured role of Judith Allen and one which is believed to be the best of her career. The story is based upon Chance—the unseen, unexpected and the great part it plays in the life of this girl. From the heights of a happy existence she is plunged to the depths of despair and swept through a gamut of human emotions each more startling than the other.

Leslie Fenton, whose great work in "Havoc" brought him to the front as one of the best dramatic juveniles, is seen as David Hale, Judith's sweetheart. Fenton has several scenes in this picture that will add to his achievements.

In the role of Jim Allen, Judith's father, is Ford Sterling. Although short, the part is important and Mr. Sterling, splendid actor that he is, handles it with a deftness worthy of his genius.

Rockliffe Fellowes plays Del Cole, the villain, and handles the role in a manner that makes this character effective yet unobtrusive. Milla Davenport as Judith's aunt and John MacSweeney as the lovable old family butler, complete a small but high-powered cast.

"The Road to Glory" is an original story and was directed by the author. Other features include "Wild Game," a Lige Conley comedy; "Sportlight," a sport novelty; and "Prizma," the screen magazine.

Modern Home Built in Arctic Aided Lieut. Byrd's Thrilling Flight to Pole

The House in the Arctic.

Loading Ship for Trip.

Byrd in Airship and Doughtout Boat.

A MODERN home built in the Arctic defied the death dealing cold of the Polar Regions and proved an invaluable aid to Lieutenant Commander Richard E. Byrd in his successful flight to the North Pole, which he circled three times in a record breaking flight of 1,500 miles in 15 hours and 30 minutes at an average speed of 99.75 miles an hour.

It was at the Spitzbergen base, King's Bay, where the first modern house was constructed amid the snow and ice of the Arctic immediately upon the arrival of Lieutenant Byrd and his companions, as a permanent home and observation station for the explorers. The house, which rose up on the horizon of the frigid north in marked contrast to the complete radio outfit that those who remained at the base while Lieutenant Byrd made his thrilling dash to the pole in his speeding Fokker might keep in touch with their chief and the outside world, which they kept informed as to the progress and success of the flight.

It was to this same home that he returned after his hazardous trip and from which some of the first messages were sent to the waiting public, telling them through the lanes of the air that Byrd had circled the pole three times and had returned to his Spitzbergen home in safety, adding one of the most memorable pages to the history of Arctic exploration.

Sugar Cane Fights Polar Cold.

When Lieutenant Byrd left the Brooklyn Navy Yard on the ship "Chantier" he declared he had the best and most scientifically equipped expedition that ever had started for the North Pole. Special plans were made for the erection of his Arctic home. Boards of celotex insulating lumber made from sugarcane (sugar cane fiber after all sugar juices have been extracted) were carried along with the latest inventions to aid in polar exploration. This building material is very light and is filled with millions of air cells, which give it great insulating value and resistance to changes in temperature, especially the severe cold. One odd circumstance in connection with the use of this material is that the sugarcane of the south was utilized to fight the cold of the north.

Celotex was selected instead of lumber because tests made by the United States Bureau of Standards and its universal use in building construction all over the world, had demonstrated that this insulating lumber would keep the quarters of the explorers warmer and protect their living conditions more securely than ordinary building material.

It was only after careful investigation by the scientific men in the expedition that celotex was selected. These authorities pointed out that the protection afforded by its insulation efficiency was three times as great as ordinary lumber and nearly twelve times as great as that of brick and other masonry material. The ship Chantier also was lined with celotex as an added precaution to keep the ship warm while the explorers used it in the preliminary stages of the expedition.

In practically every other way this expedition was more scientifically prepared than any of its predecessors. These included inventions of Commander Byrd himself. A simple run compass conceived by Byrd and developed by Mr. Bunsford of the National Geographic Society, superseded the complicated German device, developed three years ago for Amundsen. The drift indicator also was Byrd's invention. The bubble sextant by which the navigator obtains his bearings while in flight was another one of his inventions. Still another scientific development was a quick method of telling when one is at the North Pole. This has been worked out by G. W. Littlehales, the navy's hydrographic engineer.

Next Flight Over South Pole.

The expedition, backed by such men as John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., had three main objects.

1.—To prove that air navigation in the Arctic is feasible and that freight and passenger travel over the top of the world is certain to come.

2.—To hunt for new land in the unexplored areas of the Arctic.

3.—To conquer the North Pole from the air as a sporting adventure and as a demonstration of what a plane can do—not a geographical study, as the pole was bagged for all time by Admiral Peary.

Lieutenant Byrd achieved the major part of his program in his first flight. After the successful flight of Amundsen in his dirigible, during which he found no trace of new land, Lieutenant Byrd decided to give up his other flights and make his next airship expedition an attempt to repeat at the South Pole what he accomplished at the North.

Reservations for Y.M.C.A. Camp are Nearing the Limit

The reservation limit for the Richmond Y. M. C. A. camp to be held near Hopland this year, is rapidly nearing the limit, according to A. W. Mueller, who has announced that fifty boys have signed up for the camp, which will start on June 7. With many of the remaining reservations being spoken for the camp leaders are confident that the quota will soon be reached.

Charles Ely, premier camp cook who made a big hit with the boys at Camp Pioneer last year, will again be much in evidence and all the boys who attended last year declared that he is as good, when it comes down to the true points of cooking, as anyone in the whole world.

Swimming, as usual will be the main point of the camp with Mueller directing the swimming instruction and E. George Harlow and Norman Silvia in charge of the life saving work.

Simple engineering, nature study, woodcraft and other features of out-door life will be the main points of the camp. Bible study and religious education programs will be under the personal supervision of Dr. M. H. Greenlee.

MURDERER OF THREE GIVEN LIFE SENTENCE

(By Universal Service)

MUSKOGEE, Mich., June 1.—The state House of Correction at Marquette closed tonight on Asa K. Bartlett. He was sentenced today by Circuit Judge John Vanderveer to spend the remainder of his life in solitary confinement and at hard labor, for the murder of August Kruback, Miss Jeanette Kruback and William Frank, killed by the bomb sent Kruback at the Three Lakes Tavern last Thursday.

"Your act was cowardly, 'last-ardly,' said the court, in passing sentence. 'It is strange that you, a constable, an officer of the law, should do such a thing. You have enforced the law in a small way and yet are the principal in the greatest crime ever committed in Muskegon county. I regret that our legislature has not seen fit to pass a bill, submitted by our own representative, providing for capital punishment.'

Five minutes after the sentence had been passed, Bartlett, in custody of Sheriff Covell, prosecutor Dunn and two deputies, was taken away to prison, making the trip by automobile, a distance of more than 400 miles. He was the same army uniform which he had on when arrested, and in which he at first planned to fight the charge.

The confession made available today, in part, as follows: "I made, constructed and mailed the bomb which caused the deaths of August Kruback, Jeanette Kruback and the Frank boy. I fixed the mechanism in the wooden box about 10 o'clock on Wednesday, May 1926. I made up my mind to put the explosive in the box and to mail it to August Kruback."

I put four sticks of pyrotol (similar to dynamite) loose in the box. This explosive I had bought in March. I had used this and also lots of dynamite in blasting work and was familiar with the handling of it. I took a rifle cartridge and inserted a blasting cap in the end of it and placed that in the lock where the hammer would strike the cartridge. I connected a wire, one end to a screw, in the hinge cover of the box, the other to the rear of the lock, so that when the lid of the box was raised it would cause the hammer to strike the cartridge and thus set off the bomb."

The confession then went on to tell how he wrapped the box, bought the label, addressed the package and mailed it. He left it in the post office at five o'clock that afternoon. It was delivered the next morning.

ELKS DISCUSS PICNIC PLANS

The stated business meeting of the Richmond lodge of Elks was held last night in the Elks' club-rooms with James Stewart in charge of the sessions. At this time plans were discussed for the big picnic to be held at Ramon park on June 27. Harry Stow is chairman of this event and he reports that everything is being made ready for the affair.

As the chairman, E. J. Garrard was unavoidably absent last night, nothing was discussed upon the matter of raising money for the Boy Scouts.

SCIOTS PREPARE FOR DANCE Dance Hall is to be Decorated

By THE LOST NOMAD

Two holidays may be too much for our cameraman, but this is what he brought into the office yesterday afternoon and insisted on passing off as George Imbach, chairman of Publicity for the Scioto dance on Saturday night.

The C. M. insists that George thinks that his vocal cords have not as yet reached that stage of productivity which are desired by all publicity men and especially those who must broadcast the news about so stellar an event as the barn yard shin dig of the local Pyramid. So this ambitious

Contra Costa County To Be Represented at Irish Society Meet

This county will be well represented at the 57th annual summer reunion of the Knights of the Red Branch, one of California's oldest Irish societies at Fairfax park on Sunday, June 6, according to Dennis Murphy of Crockett who heads Contra Costa's big delegation to the picnic.

Murphy's committee assisting him includes Michael Kinnelly, of Port Costa; Daniel Murphy of Richmond, and Frank McKenna of Martinez.

P. M. is evidently going in for a great deal of vocal exercising to fit himself for the occasion.

Be that as it may, and from all accounts that have reached our ears the Sciots are going to have SOME party out at East Short park on Saturday night, when the Sinner's Orchestra will furnish the music for the devotees of the art of terpsichore who will be on hand to do their stuff.

The hall is to be decorated in an appropriate manner, according to Barney Allochis, who is the general chairman of the dance. The decorations committee was busy yesterday afternoon looking for local color when some bozo attempted to make a getaway with a couple of bales of hay, which are to be used in the decoration. George Bengley, famous for his ability at discovering the unsuspected, caught the culprit in the act and hailed him before the department's lie detector. As is customary in cases of this kind, the police could not give out the complete information as to the culprit, etc., but it is rumored that George Lohr, Jr. is mulling to himself "without hay all of my rabbits will die."

Water Mains Are Blamed For Conditions

prevent further recurrences of the condition which is now prevalent along Twenty-third street.

Contractor Curtis declared that the ground on Garrard boulevard was soaked and that by laying a black pavement on the mud, the street would be in a bad condition within a year. He recommended a concrete pavement for the section, the same as was recommended by the city engineer before the work was let by the Santa Fe company and the Key System. The city engineer stated that engineers of the two companies declared that an asphalt-concrete pavement would satisfy the needs.

To remedy the situation, the city council last night ordered a communication sent to the water company asking for the installation of a new twenty-four inch main.

Contractor Curtis announced to the council that after a number of delays he would be able to start construction work on Garrard boulevard and Pullman avenue this week and would complete the work as quickly as a good job would warrant.

The city has no authority in the matter, according to the council as the work is being done by the two corporations.

HITS PARKED CAR

A machine driven by Estel Karson, 445 Fourteenth street, collided with a parked car owned by I. C. Sharp of El Cerrito, on Monday at the corner of Seventh street and Macdonald avenue. Damage to both cars was slight.

Council Rescinds Paving Ordinance

The city council last night rescinded the ordinance for the paving of Rheem avenue, between Thirteenth and Twenty-third streets when it learned that City Engineer E. A. Hoffman planned to include the district in the Dunn avenue from Thirteenth to Twenty-third streets paving program.

The city engineer stated that by combining the two jobs a better district could be formed to distribute better the roadside assessments.

The work will include street work, gutters and curbs, but will not include sidewalks as they are to be completed by the property owners themselves.

New Clue in the McPherson Case

(By Universal Service)
LOS ANGELES, June 1.—A possible new clue in the Almee Temple-McPherson mystery, may point to the death of the famous evangelist in the sea, was the discovery at Santa Monica today of a sea stained bath towel with "A McPherson" embroidered in red on the hem.

The towel was brought out of the surf near Santa Monica pier by a police dog, owned by Harry Mark. Mark turned the towel over to the police tonight. Whether it had any significance in connection with the evangelist's disappearance on May 18, could not be determined tonight.

Other development in the McPherson mystery today were the examination of Mrs. McPherson's bank account, the account of Angelus Temple, new statements secured by the police from "Mother" Kennedy and Miss Emma Schaeffer and the departure of Captain Herman Cline, chief of detectives for San Francisco.

The new investigation by the police was occasioned by "hundreds of wild rumors" according to Captain Cline.

In their statements, Mrs. Kennedy, mother of Mrs. McPherson, and Miss Schaeffer, her secretary, "furnished nothing different" than what we already know, Captain Cline said.

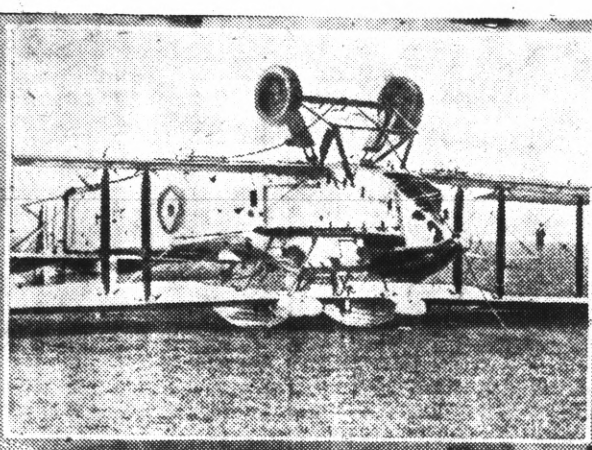

Captain Cline following his investigation of Mrs. McPherson's bank account and the account of the Angelus Temple, reported them correct in every way.

Late in the afternoon Captain Cline left for San Francisco and other cities in the northern part of the state to check up on various rumors and reports sent in to the police during the past week.

MAY ABANDON PLAN TO NAME 10,000 PROHIS

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, June 1.—President Coolidge's sweeping executive order authorizing the induction of 10,000 state and local officers into the nation's dry army, assailed by a storm of protest from every corner of the country and forced under senate investigation to its legitimacy, was tonight at the point of absolute and final collapse.

Although this order tentatively authorized sheriffs, policemen and constables in nearly all states, and was seen in effect almost a month, universal service was informed tonight that not a single application for this authority is pending.

Not only are the federal prohibition authorities admittedly without plans to make the scheme effective, but the two applications which were awaiting approval at headquarters here have been sent back.

"They were returned to Administrator Ned M. Green, of California, for further recommendation," said (Tribution) Director James E. Jones. "The recommendations they bore were old, having been made some time before the order was issued."

"Green has not sent back the applications to us, and no others are pending."

"That Green will fail to resubmit the applications was considered likely. He has already stated that in view of the cyclone of opposition he will refrain, for some time at least, from any attempt to enlist deputy sheriffs as dry officers as he had proposed."

Green, avowed father of the new prohibition scheme, declared that with "police and office-seekers" making capital of the plan, it was "unwise to go ahead."

"Make no appointments at this time even though county authorities have requested you to do so," was his injunction to officials who approved the policy wholeheartedly, through the example of California, to extend it to other sections of the country.

While officials here do not know just what opposition is causing California administrators to hold back, they do know that Representative Curry, dean of the California delegation, asserted that the state would have nothing to do with the policy, and that the best thing would be to repeal the "vicious" order.

Curry asserted that the state's constitution made it unlawful for state officers to hold federal posts. With the plan thrown overboard in California, the other states which the radical dries hoped would follow its lead are doing nothing to put the policy into effect.

Marshal Forrest Wright reported that Tony Lombardo had already taken steps to improve the sanitary condition of his place.

3 El Cerritos Are Injured in Freak Explosion

Neil Davies, 9, of Oakland, was probably fatally burned and three El Cerrito persons were badly injured at Washington park beach in Alameda Monday, when an object with which the boy was playing exploded in his hands and burst into flames.

Those injured besides the Davies boy are A. E. Hawks, Edith Rambottom, 3, and J. L. Olmstead, all of El Cerrito.

Davies had been playing about the beach and returned to his mother to show her an object which he had found. As he opened his hand to object made a series of explosions and burst into flames, setting fire to the clothing of the boy. Panic-stricken, the lad fled and on his trail came close to the Rambottom girl, whose clothing caught fire. Presence of mind on the part of her uncle saved her from serious injuries when he beat out the flames with his hands, sustaining minor burns.

Olmstead received burns about the hands and body when he seized the burning child. It was not until Mrs. Davies arrived with a blanket and succeeded in smothering the flames that the blaze was extinguished.

The four burned persons were taken to the Alameda Emergency hospital for treatment. Authorities are investigating to learn what the object was that exploded and to try to find out who placed it on the beach.

CHICKETT, June 1.—Additional equipment for the Carquinez Straits bridge was received here today by the United States Steel Products company.

A steam locomotive is included among the list of heavy equipment received. The engine will be used for switching between the storage yards and wharf. A gasoline locomotive was also received for the carrying of material on the bridge and a carload of powerful hydraulic jacks was among the cargo.

Much progress is being shown in the construction of the span. The steel company is working on both sides of the stream and on the Solano side a traveler has been erected on Pier No. 1.

Inquests Held In Anderson and Fissetti Cases

Two inquests were held in Richmond last night by Coroner Charles F. Donnelly.

In the case of Carl Anderson, who was found dead in his room early Sunday morning in El Cerrito, the jury found that death was due to pulmonary tuberculosis of both lungs.

That death was due to drowning with suicidal intent during a period of temporary insanity, was the verdict in the death of Charles Fissetti, whose body was found last Saturday in a pool near the Vista Sanitarium in the hills back of Alvarado park.

At an inquest held in Concord Monday night, the jury found that Mary Stratton came to her death by a gunshot wound in the head, self-inflicted during temporary insanity.

An inquest will be held tonight at Concord to determine the cause of death of William DuBois who died at a Martinez hospital Saturday, following an automobile accident near Concord last Thursday.

Do You Know
That Western States Life's percentage of increase of new Ordinary Insurance sold in the Pacific Coast States for 1925, over the preceding year, exceeded three times the corresponding figure for All American Life Companies combined?

Phone Richmond 784 and let our representative explain the reason for this large increase in business.

A Glimpse Into The Future

Scientific minds are trying to determine the position of the human race a thousand years from now, but most persons are more concerned with how they will fare in the immediate future. The one sure way of discounting everyday uncertainties is by building a substantial savings bank balance, and there is no time like the present to start. Consistent saving and four per cent interest compounded semi-annually will banish all thought of financial worry in the years to come.
